

I don't feel that the convenience of using your cell phone on the plane out ways how annoying it is to have to sit next to one or two individuals talking on their phone. I experience that today on a commuter train.